NATO Music Festival

Fritz Walter Stadium Kaiserslautern
11 June 2011 | 6.30 p.m.

Special Guest: Joy Fleming

Music across the borders

Organized jointly by the City of Kaiserslautern and NATO's Allied Air Command Headquarters at Ramstein since 1965, the NATO Music Festival has become a permanent feature of Kaiserslautern's calendar of events.

On 11 June, military bands from several NATO States, including the United States Air Forces in Europe Band, the German Navy's Music Band and an ensemble from Luxembourg, will perform an exclusive programme. The special thrilling atmosphere of the festival owes much to the musicians' representative uniforms and the military precision of their performance.

With a three-hour open-air programme the NATO Music Festival will again attract many visitors from near and far to the stadium on Betzenberg hill at Kaiserslautern.

An audible expression of the armed forces' self-image, military music has come to play an important role in the cultural lives of almost all countries, serving as an important link between the forces and the population. More than 45 years of NATO Music Festival at Kaiserslautern have been most helpful in underlining this claim. Besides the musical experience, the festival is very much about crossing borders and promoting friendship.

As a particular highlight in 2011, Joy Fleming, a German singer famous for her amazing voice, is going to perform during the event. Her fantastic musical repertoire ranges from pop and rock songs to funk and blues rhythms.

On 11 June 2011 more than 450 military musicians from several NATO and Partner States will again thrill the audience and Joy Fleming is going to rock the stadium - "Welcome to the NATO Music Festival in Kaiserslautern!"

We're looking forward to meeting you there!
